MOORE IS HIT HARD

Pittsburgh, May 11.—Pittsburgh took the second game of the Philadelphia series by hitting Earl Moore to all parts of the field in the first two innings. The first five men up drove out singles, then with one out, McCarthy doubled, scoring two men. In the second inning, after two were down, Donlin doubled, Wagner walked and Miller singled, hitting the bases. The three scored on McCarthy's single and Wagner's wild throw to the plate. The score:

WHERE THEY PLAY TO-DAY.
(No games scheduled.)

New York, May 11.—Pop bottles were showered about an umpire today for the first time in years on a New York baseball field, and Silk O'Loughlin, the veteran of the American League, was the target.

In the eighth inning of a bitterly-fought game before 18,000 people, O'Loughlin put pitcher Jack Quinn out of the game for calling his glove as the umpire as a protest against one of Silk's decisions on balls and strikes. Quinn's election followed a fierce rally by the Yankees after a period of wildness on the part of pitcher Vaughn, which enabled the Detroit Tigers to get a strong lead. Quinn appeared to have the Tigers at a halt when he was put of the game, and the crowd was incensed. O'Loughlin had previously put Manager Wolverton and Vaughn off the field for complaining from the bench about his decisions. As Quinn left the field a pop bottle fell from the main grandstand and fell at his feet. Two more landed there, and cobb and a number of other Detroit and New York players faced the stand, crying for the bottle-throwers to desist. Soon after Silk put Catcher Street out of the game, and a glass bottle fell near the umpire. However, he was not struck by any of the missiles. Russell Ford was lifted from the box in the seventh inning with the bases full and two out, because the Tigers had forced ahead by one run. Vaughn went in and walked four men in a row, forcing three runs before he, too, was derelicted. Quinn succeeded Vaughn, and turned loose a wild pitch that scored another run. Then Jack settled down and extinguished the Tigers, and the Yankees rallied valiantly in their half of the seventh, but Silk quickly dismantled the lineup, and the crowd made a demonstration against him after the game. Catcher Sweeney joined the Yankees to day and relieved Street. The score:
